

amateur 10

•recommended price only

in this Issue

- y EQUIPMENT REVIEW: A look at a different style of handheld, the Kenpro KT-220E for Two Metre.
- J 3 THE CASE FOR CHANGE: A group of prominent radio amateurs calls out for action on a new licensing structure.
- | 9 PROPAGATION BY CONDUCTION: Rudi VE3BMV expresses some radical ideas on propagation theory . . . read it!
- LOW BAND ANTENNAS: More radical ideas, this time on the subject of ground wave antennas.
- 33 NETWORK DESIGN BY COMPUTER: Designing filter networks on the Commodore C-64 home computer.
- 36 VK5JSA RAILWAY MOBILE: South Australia's Jubilee station hams it up on the Jubilee Trade Train.
- 38 MODS 'N' TIPS: Some interesting ideas to get more from your Kenwood or Icom transceivers.

- 39 SHORT WORD CW: A morse code training program for Amstrad personal computers,
- 4 f t LOG PERIODIC YAGIS: Design your own, quickly and easily, using your home computer.
- 43 OPERATION AOCB UPGRADE: Another instalment in the popular AOCB course by Ron Bertrand VK2DQ.
- 4H WORLDWIDE MOBILE: It's not every day that an international broadcaster decides to "go mobile"!

COVER STORY:
Propagation By Conduction is Yuri Blanarovich's pet theory of propagation. It explains many of the inconsistencies we so often experience and questions many of the traditional theories. Don't be put off by the title. Cover illustration by Linda Weil.

Regular Features

- |    |              |                    |
|----|--------------|--------------------|
| 5  | QSP          | Editorial Comment  |
| 7  | FEEDBACK:    | Reader letters     |
| 10 | NEWS DESK:   | New Products       |
| 17 | YL FORUM:    | A YL Perspective   |
| 51 | DX & BAND:   | What's On Where    |
| 55 | HAM WORD:    | Another Teaser     |
| 57 | SCATTER:     | VHF/UHF Report     |
| 58 | PREDICTIONS: | June Grafex Charts |
| 60 | SHORTWAVE:   | Broadcasting News  |
| 62 | CLASSIFIEDS: | For Private Sale   |